What do Myths about LGBT People Tell Us about Straight People?—A Conversation with Professor Michael Bronski
2:00pm-4:00pm, WGS Lounge, Boylston Hall, Ground Floor

Do all religions condemn homosexuality? Do gay people molest children? Are bisexualitys trustworthy because they don't make up their minds? Are gay men wildly promiscuous? Are transgender people mentally ill? Obviously the answer to all of these questions is no—but the fact that heterosexual society asks them tells us a lot.

Professor Michael Bronski—author of You Can Tell just by Looking and Twenty Other Myths about LGBT People—discusses why these myths reveal unexpected truths.

Nicholas Papadopolous Lecture
3:00pm-6:00pm, Fong Auditorium—Lecture, Ticknor Lounge—Reception

Professor Cherrìe Moraga, a Chicana feminist activist, poet, essayist, playwright, and faculty member at Stanford University, delivers the annual Nicholas Papadopolous Lecture. Using the 45th Anniversary of the Stonewall Riots as her point of departure, Professor Moraga will contextualize the various ways BGLTQ movements and histories of activism in the United States have evolved since the momentous events of 1969. This annual endowed lecture is named for Nicholas Papadopolous, who received his MA and PhD degrees in engineering from Harvard University. After Nick's death from complications of AIDS in 1994, his mother created a fund in his name to support lectures about gay and lesbian studies or of interest to the gay and lesbian communities at Harvard.
